New York Stock Market

New York, February 2 .- A nervous and unsettled movement characterized operations to-day in the stock market, with such a constant shifting of posttion as to make it appear that the course of prices was subject to the caprice of professional traders rather than to any broad and definite influence. After a mixed opening the mar ence. After a mixed opening the market developed signs of heaviness, usubtless due to realizing sales, as well as to lack or demand from short interests, which covered extensivery on the recent rise. In the afternoon trading the market grew stronger, but any ambitious attempts at buil operations were net with effective resistance. The growing spirit of confidence which was reflected in the readiness with which large offerings were absorbed served to prevent any marked set-backs in the day's diverse movements, and at the close quotations compared favorably with last night's higher level.

ments, and at the close quotations compared favorably with last night's higher level.

Among the railroads, which have overshadowed the remainder of the list of late, movements were mixed. The HIII issues were under pressure throughout the morning, and Northern Pacific, which some of the room traders concluded had advanced far enough, was set back two points, only to recover part of its loss later. The Harriman stock did little in the early hours, but later a strong buying movement forced them up materially, leading crossed 169 in response to a steady demand, which was said to come lirgely from Philadelphia, and Lehigh Valley, after a number of contradictory movements, grew firm at a good advance. Some of the best advances of the day were recorded by low-priced specialties, which usually are regarded as the favorite vehicles of pool movements. American Car and Foundry, Distillers and Central Leather were especially strong. United States Steel, common, maintained its prominent position, advancing to a new high level for the present movements. ments.
Continued strength marked the day's

COTTON MARKETS.

New York February 1—The cotton market was exsert body with active months returning the lowest levels touched since the following the following the potential since the following the following the potential since the following the potential state of the green market and the fallure of domestic dry goods returned following the market advices were built in the mill situation. There seemed to be no change in the news from the Southwest and Southern spot market advices were built, like him indicated the opening prices a vally of core points from the lowest occurred during the middle of the day. There was no ag gressive built support, and the market lates weakened again closing at practically the levest, with May making new low ground for the movement. The demand on the decline was generally attributed to trade interests, and there was some further Wall Fireet buying of new crop positions, but the less favorable advices from Liverpool seemed to be offset by the drought reports and the claims of small unsold supplies in the interior. Southern spot markets as officially reported (arily in the day were generally unchanged. The interior movement indicated that so far this week stories at the leading interior towns have ground the leading interior towns have 600 two years ago.

Exports continued large amounting to bout 25.00 nales for the day and to 5482.755.

Fo far this season, against (258.64) last year. The reports of a slackening business at Marchester, noweer, lead to predictions of a falling off in the demand for export, and the present movement is regarded. and for export, and is regarded as the result of past transactions.
Cotton Exchange members have voted to observe Saturday, the lith, an extra ex-change holiday.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, February 2.—The day's market showed little change of an important character. There is some small second-hand trading going on in convertibles and gray goods. The gingham trade continues steady, and the retailers are buying domestics in a fairly liberal way Drills and sheetings are not in as good demand as looked for. The yarn markets show little change Bleached cottons of the unticketed class are being sold more generally, cutters taking goods in a moderate way The finer end af the bleached goods trade is dull. The Japan raw silk market is easier, a very large proportion of the crop having been sold. DRY GOODS MARKET.
